

God Put Out the Lights on Trump Pt 2

Last week on Tuesday, President Donald Trump held a meeting at the White House and he explained what he meant in Helsinki when he seemed to imply that he had more faith in Vladimir Putin than he did in our Intelligence agencies. And it's interesting when he was saying: 'I have full faith in the Intelligence agencies' the lights went out; and everybody commented on this because it was quite startling! I mean, how many press conferences do the lights go out? Very, very few, if any. It's the first one I ever noticed; and I did a video saying that this was a sign from Almighty God that Donald Trump should have full faith in Him and not in the Intelligence Agencies and thereby God was verifying what he says about Donald Trump in Isaiah, chapter number 45, and that is: our President does not know God.

Well, I got a lot of very interesting comments on that video and I thought I would read some of them for you because they run a wide gamut of expression and see what you think: who do you agree with? Do you agree with any of these comments or do you agree with me that this was a sign from Almighty God? So here's the first comment I wanted to read: it's from ulphil08: 'Sorry William, you totally blew this one! The lights going out had absolutely nothing to do with God. It was Trump sending a message to Brennan, Comey and Clapper that it's 'lights out' for them.' Well, I thought that was pretty humorous, that Donald Trump would give that kind of a message and it's possible; I'm not saying that is not what happened, it could be. 'This was not a random occurrence. It was planned and deliberate. A Q Anon post will eventually confirm this.' Well, ulphil, I have not seen that Q Anon post yet and this was almost a week ago. I don't think Q Anon is going to comment on this because I really don't think Donald Trump planned this message.

And here's what Mike Ghent says: 'I disagree. I actually think this was the Intelligence agencies sending a message to President Trump. (I think this is more likely) As soon as Trump referred to the Intel agencies the lights went out. Trump wouldn't be the first President the Intel community attempted to or did successfully take out. The message was to Trump and 'lights out' meant death. I hope God is now protecting President Trump after raising him up in this election'. I think that is more of a possibility and I think Mike Ghent is closer to the truth and there's no doubt the Deep State wants to take out Donald Trump.

And now here's what Marie Leopold says: 'Wow William, it took an eagle's eye to catch that one! It was so evident in message! It is also apparent that President Trump especially noticed as he remarked it by saying 'strange'. God bless and Mother preserve and protect.' And I agree; that was the reaction by Donald Trump and by expressing the word 'strange' indicates that he did not plan it. He would not have used that word if it was his design. 'Strange' indicates to me the supernatural; something very mysterious. I think President Trump recognized this was a sign from Almighty God. That was his immediate reaction. He did not plan this but he knew that it was something hidden and mysterious, hence that word 'strange'. Very good, Marie, I agree with that.

And here's what Misha-el Ministries says: 'You are right about the lights going out when Trump said he put his full faith in his Intelligence people, God allowed that to happen. We put our full faith in Jesus Christ.' And I agree, Misha-el Ministries. I think you are right. I'm not sure if God planned it, he doesn't need to. God arranges things or in this case he allowed it to happen, as Misha-el Ministries says. It was a sign from Almighty God to Trump and to us and Donald Trump recognized it as such. Here's what Bonnie Banjo says: 'That isn't what it means. It means as Q Anon says; from darkness to light for the Intelligence Agencies. It was more than anything else Trump that had it done himself as a message to the Intel agencies. And who are you to say that Donald Trump doesn't have faith in God? Oh my gosh.' Well, Bonnie, it's not me who says that Donald Trump does not have faith in God, it's the great prophet, Isaiah. Read his chapter 45.

And here's what Richie Herrman says: 'Those lights didn't go out by God! I truly believe it was a clue given by Trump when he said a certain word the lights would go out. It's a big chess game.' Many times I think Trump does plan that type of visual message and Q Anon does comment on it. But I don't think Q is going to comment this time. And here's what Thawadah Ahahah says: 'You realize the lights did not go out they faded out.' Well, that's a good point. 'Which means that it was someone using a dimmer. God did not dim the lights. It's a game the government plays to get people to debate the silly antics they do. Wake up... that was purposeful. The acting on Donald Trump's part was bad. How did he not notice the lights were fading until it was completely out?' Well, I don't think that's a good point. Maybe Donald Trump's reactions are not as fast as they were when he was 18. And besides, when you're on stage, when you are giving a public message, you are focusing on your message; you're not focusing on what's going on around you. So I don't think that's a good point. 'It was evident the lights were going out and yet this bad acting didn't remind him to react in the moment. Instead he waited until it was completely dark to make a comment.' As I say, he also didn't react immediately when the lights came back on, if you check.

I'm going to play this clip for you and you can judge for yourself. And then there's someone who made a comment, and I can't find it so I'm sorry, you can mention below your name because it's a good comment, and he noticed Trump's body language. He said Trump crossed his arms after the lights went out. That would very much indicate that he did not plan this, he was not in charge. That is a defensive reaction. That plus the word 'strange' tells me this was not Q Anon's doing or Trump's doing. This was something that surprised him very much. And here's what gummy spoke says: 'God didn't turn the lights out on Trump. It was either deliberate or a mechanical or electrical malfunction.' So now, we have reviewed just about all the possibilities. Was it a human error, mechanical error, electrical error? Did the Deep State plan it. Did Donald Trump plan it? So here's the clip what do you think? https://youtu.be/E_g2IKzEqms?t=227

'Let me begin by saying that once again the full faith and support for America's Intelligence agencies. I have a full faith in our Intelligence agencies. Whoops, they just turned off the light. That must be the Intelligence agencies. There it goes. Okay? You guys okay? Good. That was strange. But that's okay. So I'll begin by stating that I have full faith and support for America's great Intelligence...'

Well thank you, President Donald Trump. I believe God is blessing you. I believe he is directing your right hand, as prophesied by Isaiah. But Isaiah also says you do not know Him and when you said, 'I put full faith in the Intelligence agencies', you should have said, 'I put full faith in Almighty God'. And you did not say that because you do not have full faith in God, as prophesied by Isaiah. So, whether this was human error or mechanical error or electrical error or a plan by the Deep State or planned by Trump himself, it doesn't matter: God used this to verify his prophecies in Isaiah 45. So, your next assignment is to read Isaiah 45 because Isaiah 45 gives us the real meaning of the lights going out at Trump's little press conference.
